Fact Sheet

PeaceHealth Peace Island Medical Center – Emergency Medicine

Cari Matthews, MD

Emergency Medicine

"I feel very honored to be the one people come to at the worst moments in life – when they are hurt, frightened or confused. No matter what the problem is, I use everything I can to help."

EDUCATION

- Naval Medical Center San Diego, Emergency Medicine Residency, San Diego, CA, 2010
- Uniformed Services University of Health Sciences, Doctor of Medicine, Bethesda, MD, 2003
- University of Idaho, Bachelor of Science in Microbiology and Molecular Biology and Biochemistry, Moscow, ID, 1997

CERTIFICATIONS

- American Board of Emergency Medicine

Meet Dr. Matthews

We are pleased to welcome Cari Matthews, MD, to the PeaceHealth Peace Island Medical Center team of providers. Dr. Matthews is a seasoned Emergency provider with special interests in remote care, aeromedical evacuation and travel medicine.

Dr. Matthews comes to PeaceHealth from Benefis Health System in Great Falls, Montana. She is a Navy veteran with 15 years of experience serving with the Navy and Marines, including three combat deployments. She spent three years completing point-of-injury casualty evacuation with Marine helicopters in Iraq. She currently serves as a flight surgeon for the Air National Guard.

Dr. Matthews' home life is also quite busy, as she has four young, active children under the age of 10, including three-year-old twins. In her limited free time, she enjoys skiing, scuba diving, traveling, hiking and dabbling with cooking.

PeaceHealth Peace Island Medical Center
Emergency Medicine
1117 Spring Street
Friday Harbor, WA 98250
360-378-2141
peacehealth.org/peace-island